

INTRODUCTION TO HOPEWELL'S DEPOT

The Hopewell Depot is a two bedroom apartment inside the upper part of a one and a half story building near our main building.

Designed for families visiting residents to stay in, we have re-assigned it as a possible quarantine location for a prospective resident and an accompanying person. Note that because of high demand for it, we require that any prospective resident seeking to stay at the Depot also find an acceptable alternative in case it is not available. Our staff can help in finding such an alternative.

The main area of the Depot is a combined living/kitchen/dining area.

The living area includes a couch, easy chair, and television. The television has DirectTV, and also a DVD and VCR players.

The dining area is small for four, but fits two easily.

The kitchen includes a range with a stove above and an oven below, a microwave, a toaster oven, a coffeepot, and a refrigerator. It also has storage space. A full overview of kitchen supplies is at the end of this material.

The Depot includes a full bath.

The two bedrooms each have a full size bed, an easy chair, a small dresser, a luggage rack, and several lamps. They have neither closets nor armoires, but there is a hook on the back of each door that can accommodate a few hangers.
